

What to Expect Family Mediation

An amicable approach to sorting your finances and child arrangements.

mediation@talklistenchange.org.uk

Admin Hours:

Mon - Fri: 9am - 4pm

Family mediation can help you and your former partner (or other family members) come to agreements without lengthy and expensive court proceedings. It allows you to discuss important matters in a secure environment with an impartial mediator.

Whether you're recently separated or have been separated for a while, you can come to us. It's never too early or too late to come to arrangements that are best for your family.

Funded Payments

Legal Aid

- If you qualify for Legal Aid, all your sessions will be free of charge.
- If your former partner qualifies, your MIAM will be free, and your first joint session will be free.

Government Voucher

- Regardless of income, everyone is currently entitled to a £500 voucher towards joint sessions if discussing children.
- The voucher is per family and will be applied for by TLC.

Arrangement Types

Arrangements for children, such as:

- time spent with each parent
- holidays or special occasions
- communication as parents

Division of assets, such as:

- a business
- pensions
- the family home

Other issues, such as:

- divorce proceedings
- debt
- grandparents
- child maintenance
- keeping in touch

Process

Call for information

- We can answer any questions you have about family mediation.

Mediation Information Assessment Meeting (MIAM)

- A one-to-one meeting for you with a mediator. An opportunity to discuss your situation and decide on the next steps for you and your family.

Attend a joint session(s)

- Most attend 2-4 sessions. Many take time between sessions to consider options, trial arrangements, and obtain legal advice.

Confirm arrangements

- The mediator will summarise any proposals that you have put forward and intend to fulfil.

We also offer Child Inclusive Mediation. This gives children the opportunity to meet with a mediator and talk about their wishes. Research shows that children greatly benefit from having a voice during the separation process. A Child Consultation will only go ahead following a discussion and signed permission from parents.
